The premium list and rules and regulations of the Roanoke and Albemarle Agricultural Fair Association is before us. It is in pamphlet form, neatly executed and covering 31 pages. The premiums offered are liberal and the list of officers is made up of the very best material. The Second Fair will be held at Murfreesboro, November 8th to 11th. A grand reunion of Ex-Confederate Soldiers, Friday the 11th, will constitute a pleasing feature of the occasion.

There is a very suspicious character in Edenton. No one knows him by name. He is seen principally at night, around unprotected houses. He was shot at last night several times. As soon as again seen he will doubtless be arrested. Look out for him!

We are requested to state that the continued sickness of Mrs. Cheshire and the absence of several of the Trustees will cause a delay in opening the Graded School until Monday, October the 3rd. The Board has received many applications from Teachers wanting positions, and will make a choice among them of a Principal, next week.

I have on hand a G. H. P. "Eclipse" Engine, on sills, one 50 Saw "Centennial" Cotton Gin, Feeder and Condenser, and one "Ball" Cotton-press, belt, etc., all in first class running order and ready for use. Price for whole outfit $550, delivered at Plymouth, N. C. Time given if desired on part of purchase money. Address T. A. PERRY, Plymouth, N. C.

Mr. A. J. Bateman returned Wednesday from an extended trip to Gates and other places. He reports things lively in the old county. He was cordially met by friends, among them, Mr. J. M. Wiggins and shown the indices of advance here and there existing, among which the new Rail Road constitutes the principal feature. He brings cheering news from the old county and from friends, Walton, Roberts and others valued sons of the mother of soldiers statesmen and good farmers.

At a meeting of the Councilmen, yesterday, it was decided to modify the ordinance in reference to hitching horses on the streets so as to allow merchants to have hitching posts in front of their stores for the use of their customers. This is right. People from the country, who pour their money in the lap of business in Edenton, should not be put to inconvenience when they come to see us. Treat them right. Give them every needed privilege. Our interest demands it, and common courtesy requires it.

The Rail Road to Woodley's is rapidly approaching completion. Soon the hum of new enterprises will follow its finish and the counties of Chowan and Gates will have added unto their natural wealth the developing influence of a new people, new occupations and, with them, an increased circulation of the money medium. We congratulate our friends and neighbors. The next thing (and Dr. Woodley will doubtless look after it) is a telegraphic communication connecting with the Edenton and E. City line. Let us have it.

LET HIM TAKE HIS OWN.

Above all things do not be a sneak. Be manly and honorable in all relations. If you have an occasion to strike an antagonist, do it openly in daylight. No position, however honorable, no family connection, however respectable, can save a sneak from the contempt of all honorable men. Some may use him, but they will despise him for the very qualities which make him a ready tool. Be a knave if you must, but be a manly one.—Rambler in the Enquirer.

O that Some Folks would learn to act upon their advice to others.—F. F.

REMOVAL

When first he came among us, eight years ago, L. Levy considered himself compelled to occupy a store which, from its retired situation, he called country. After, when opportunity offered, he moved to the Rosenthal store when he thought himself in town. Now, controlled by business interests, the firm moves again, and, this time, to the large and spacious building formerly occupied by Messrs. Skinner and Parsons, Main street, which situation he declares to be in the midst of the city and, of all places, most attractive to purchasers.

His life experience as a merchant warrants him in saying that to advertise prices amounts to simple nonsense. Call and examine goods, see for yourself their quality and then let the price control your purchase as he is determined to close out the remainder of goods on hand in order to make room for a New Fall and Winter Stock which will be selected in the great city of New York with which no market can successfully compete.

Thanking my customers and public generally for past favors and asking a continuation of the same, I respectfully subscribe myself for the firm

Louis Levy,
Dillon building, formerly occupied by Skinner & Parsons.
Look-out for ad when he returns.
